The Pope said we are all invited to be open to Jesus' call and to live united to Him in the mundane events of our daily lives. These are the opportunities we have to allow ourselves to be "guided by the Holy Spirit," said the Pope. He said other people easily take notice when our every action is motivated by Christ.

Listening to the Word of God

In the icon of the Parable of the Sower on the front cover of the bulletin we see Jesus sowing seeds of Divine Wisdom – His words – to four groups of people. Only one group, however, is listening attentively. The other three hear but do not listen. Rather, they are preoccupied with the "anxieties, riches and pleasures of this life." (Luke 8:14)

Which group are we in? We hear the Word of God spoken and preached in church each week, but do the cares and concerns of life and living cause us to quickly forget the lessons and examples taught by Jesus?

If we fail to integrate the teachings of Christ into our daily life, are we very different than the members of those three groups who heard but did not act on the Word of God? Consider the simple lesson from the following illustration:

Young Johnny reached for the ringing phone one Saturday evening, and his father told him, "If it's that guy from work calling, tell him I'm not home!" Later that evening, the family went out for dinner. Johnny's mother noticed that the waitress had undercharged them. "That's bad for them but good for us!" laughed mom. On the way home, dad explained to Johnny that the new radar detector he recently had installed on his car was to "beat the police" and avoid speeding tickets. Later that night, as Johnny finished his Sunday school lesson, he reflected on what a good Saturday it had been. It was much better than last Saturday when his parents grounded him for cheating on his math test.

What lessons do we teach by the examples we set?
