7. THE LORD'S PRAYER

The "Our Father" is the core of Holy Scripture, an "epitome of the whole Gospel." Located in the Sermon on the Mount—the teaching about the new life of the Christian—it unites within itself the revelation of God as Father, and our filial response of faith, in which "with confidence" we ask the Father for "that which we need" (see Mt 6:32; Lk 12:30). We call this prayer, which we received and learned from the Lord himself, the Lord's Prayer. Thus, he is both the Teacher and Model of our prayer. - Catechism of the Ukrainian Catholic Church: Christ Our Pascha, #675

Panakhya for the victims of Russian invasion celebrated at Cathedral in NYC

A Panakhya for the victims of the Russian invasion of Ukraine was celebrated at Saint Patrick's Cathedral in New York City. The Archdiocese of New York and the Ukrainian Catholic Archeparchy of Philadelphia jointly organized this ecumenical memorial service. Archbishop of New York, Cardinal Timothy Dolan; Ukrainian Catholic Archbishop-Metropolitan of Philadelphia, Borys Gudziak and other Church leaders prayed for peace and justice in Ukraine and repose of the victims of the Russian invasion together with Christians of different denominations and all people of goodwill. Cardinal Dolan welcomed those who came to pray in Saint Patrick's. "This is where God's people assemble. Sometimes with smiles, sometimes with tears—as it is today, when we remember victims of the Russian invasion of Ukraine." The memorial service was sung by the Ukrainian Chorus Dumka of New York. Representatives of Christian, Jewish, and Muslim groups, as well as Ukrainian community leaders, united to pray together. We have come to accompany in prayer those who have died, both those who have given their lives, and the innocent who have had their lives taken from them," noted Metropolitan Borys in his address. He added that the prayer is not a prayer of death, it is a prayer of life. "We sing the 'Eternal Memory.' Yes, with sorrow for the evil tragedy of the killing but also with great hope and trust". He stressed that people who in these days sacrifice their lives in Ukraine teach the rest of the world lessons about eternity. "We face death and loss together because we believe in life, and we have a deep faith in God's desire for us to live, to live forever. When you do not fear death, when you know God's grace, when you live under God's blessing, when you know your dignity, you have started to live forever," said the Archbishop. The Ukrainian envoy to the United Nations, Serhiy Kyslytsia, in his brief remarks shared about the highest price Ukrainians are paying for their right to exist. "As we are gathered today, at this very moment, the front line of many hundreds miles of the Russia-Ukraine war remains an area of fierce fighting. They are fighting against a cruel enemy. An enemy that has come to kill, to destroy, to steal, and to humiliate. An enemy that makes no distinction between military and civilians. An enemy that does not consider itself to be bound by any norms or rules," noted the Ambassador. He mentioned that the number of casualties among Ukrainian servicemen is horrendous. Every day around one hundred Ukrainian soldiers are killed in action and 500 wounded. "During our short prayer between 10 and 20 people were killed or died of their injuries because of that brutal Russian invasion, and 60 others were maimed," added Metropolitan Borys. He thanked Cardinal Dolan for his singular leadership and visit to Ukraine, American Catholic charity organizations for their aid to Ukrainians, and American Catholics who according to his rough estimate have contributed 100 million dollars to humanitarian aid to Ukraine. However, the Archbishop and the Ambassador mentioned that the struggle of the Ukrainian people continues, and the hard work is just beginning.

Prove Your Faith by Your Trust

“Look at the birds of the air,” says Jesus. What a splendid example for our faith to follow! If God’s providence bestows an un-failing supply of food on the birds of the air who neither sow nor reap, we ought to realize that the reason for people’s supply running short is human greed. The fruits of the earth were given to feed all without distinction and nobody can claim any particular rights. Instead, we have lost the sense of the communion of goods, rushing to turn these goods into private property. The birds do not know famine because they do not claim anything specially for themselves and neither do they have any envy of others. “Consider the lilies of the field: not even Solomon in all his glory was arrayed like one of these.

If God so clothes the grass which is alive today and tomorrow is cast into the oven, how much more will he clothe one of you!”

Listen to these stupendous and uplifting words. With this parable of flowers and grass the Lord urges us to hope that God will also be merciful to us. Nothing is more persuasive than a glance at unthinking creatures who have received such beautiful dress from providence. Surely we should be all the more ready to believe that human beings, if they entrust themselves completely to God and free themselves of all their worries, will not lack anything.

St. Ambrose of Milan
